- Some staff positions have been filled on a regular basis, others are currently under recruitment, and the remaining positions are being covered by contractual teachers.
- Guest lectures by experts and alumni are actively conducted.
- Support from contractual teachers continues.
- In colleges with KVK establishments, additional support from KVKs is sought to address staffing shortages and enhance efficiency.
- A state-of-the-art Biotechnology Center is being established, and various labs are being strengthened through the purchase of advanced equipment to support high-quality research.
- Farm implements have been procured and are being judiciously utilized.
- Multiple high-quality lectures are being conducted under the IDP-NAHEP initiative across all colleges.
- To ensure 24/7 security, high-definition CCTV surveillance has been installed at all key points.
- Special emphasis has been placed on enhancing entrepreneurship through Certificate Courses and Training Programs under the IDP-NAHEP initiative.
- An incubation center is being established to further support this objective.
- To address evaluation-related grievances, guidelines have been prepared and implemented to allow students to view their answer books upon request, as prescribed under the RTI Act, significantly increasing transparency.
- In the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Shake Hands Club provided comprehensive support to students through a mentor-mentee system modeled on a guardian-ward approach. This initiative helped maintain student morale, with no reports of drastic measures taken by students, as teachers acted as supportive guardians.

- During the COVID period, a WhatsApp group was launched for sharing MCQs, notes, presentations, study materials, and facilitating virtual classes, providing robust academic support to students.
- An online repository of knowledge for competitive exam preparation has been made available to students and faculty, with 24/7 access via smart phones.
- During village and industry attachments, as well as internships under the READY Programme, students have expressed the need for extensive academic support, which is effectively met through this online resource.

Action Plan for Smooth Conduction of Academic Activities during COVID-19 and Psychological Support for Students

All Deans are responsible for ensuring the implementation of these measures to guarantee the smooth continuation of academic activities and to provide essential psychological support to students during the COVID-19 pandemic.

1. Continuation of Academic Activities:

- Adopt Online Learning Platforms: Transition to virtual classrooms using platforms such as Zoom, Microsoft Teams, or Google Meet. Ensure that all course materials, lectures, and assignments are accessible online.
- Develop a Comprehensive Online Curriculum: Create a structured online curriculum that includes video lectures, reading materials, interactive sessions, and assessments to ensure continuity in learning.
- Provide Technical Support: Offer training and technical support for both faculty and students to familiarize them with online tools and platforms.
- Regular Virtual Interaction: Schedule regular online sessions, including lectures, group discussions, and office hours, to maintain engagement and address academic queries.
- Assessments and Examinations: Implement online assessment tools and ensure a clear, fair process for conducting exams, including the use of proctoring software if necessary.
- Access to Resources: Ensure that digital libraries, e-books, and academic resources are accessible to students remotely.

2. Measures for Psychological Support:

- Virtual Counseling Services: Provide access to online counseling and mental health support through trained professionals to help students cope with stress, anxiety, and other mental health issues.
- Regular Check-ins: Encourage faculty and staff to conduct regular virtual check-ins with students to offer support, address concerns, and maintain a connection.
- Create Supportive Communities: Establish online support groups or forums where students can share experiences, offer mutual support, and stay connected with peers.
- Wellness and Stress Management Workshops: Organize online workshops focusing on wellness, stress management, and coping strategies to help students navigate the challenges of remote learning.
- Promote Physical Health: Encourage students to engage in regular physical activity, offer virtual yoga or fitness classes, and share resources on maintaining a healthy lifestyle.
- Recognition and Motivation: Recognize and celebrate students' achievements and milestones through virtual awards and acknowledgments to keep them motivated.
- Flexible Deadlines: Implement flexible deadlines and provide accommodations for students facing difficulties due to the pandemic, such as technical issues or health concerns.
